

Why eliminate a new form of competition? Cable companies are a good example of how prices will increase and service will decrease without competition. I'm paying for satellite radio. I like getting my information when I need it, not when other form of communication wants to give it to me. Let the radio stations see what competition will do for their business. I like no commercials. I like theamed stations. I like traffic report stations. I'm paying for it, so let the local stations stay out of my business and what I want to hear. Let them have an all traffic channel if they think it will make money.
